The diagram illustrates the flow of information on a website's contact page. It features two main sections: 'Our contact info' on the left and 'Feedback' on the right. An orange arrow points from 'Our contact info' down to a box containing address, phone, and email details. Another orange arrow points from the 'Feedback' section down to a form with fields for name, email, message, and a 'SEND' button. The entire page has a dark background with white text and form elements.
